FOREWORD

This little catalog, now in its fifth edition, constitutes an effort to find outlet for, and especially to secure wider local dissemination of the fast accumulating surplus of one of the largest study collections of Irises on the Pacific Coast. Limited space makes the stock of many varieties listed unduly low, but as the resources of three other large private collections are also available through arrangement with their owners, we are generally able to supply reasonable demand.

As we are constantly acquiring new varieties, and comparing and discarding older ones the list of varieties available in surplus is constantly changing, and similarly but a certain proportion of the 1000 or more varieties which our collection includes can be offered at any one time. Single roots, however, of many varieties not yet listed can often be supplied, so in case of specific desiderata unmentioned in this booklet special inquiry is invited.

Attention is called in this 1928 list to the many new varieties offered. Some of these are magnificent things, a few of them quite distinct new breaks, others more in the way of improvement or glorification of types we already had. Recent progress toward new color tones has been especially marked among the old golds and browns. Valencia, Endymion, Amerind, and Druid are interesting examples, the first two quite luminous in the garden, the others more somber though equally as distinctive.

The slowly increasing list of our own seedlings is again urged to the consideration of those who have not tried them. For Californian gardens all are splendid. Some have also proven perfectly hardy in colder parts of the country, at least when once established; the remainder are still to meet their test, but we believe all are beautiful enough to be worth a little gambling. Jacinto is fine under artificial light and when planted in light shade out of proximity to hard or garish colors, Cacique and Sagamore are in a class by themselves and splendid for cutting and exhibition, Orizaba is a giant but must be well grown to bring out its best character. It is primarily an exhibition Iris. Canyon Mists must be seen in an established clump to realize what a good Iris it is, and the advantages it offers for garden decoration by reason of its astonishing floriferousness and long season, a rare combination in Irises. It also exhibits well. Mauna Loa and Osprey are about equally outstanding in the garden and on the show table.

A WORD AS TO PRICES

While we are not cut-price artists and take little interest in the form of jungle sport which has worked so much havoc of late among the commercial Iris growers of some districts, we do endeavor to make our prices as reasonable throughout as the quality of stock furnished and what we conceive to be our obligations to other growers will permit. For the more recent American introductions we endeavor to follow the current quotations at which they are offered by their respective originators as exactly as our knowledge enables us and wholly regardless of the prices adopted by others in the field, or the size of our stocks, and the possible loss of orders. The patient work of our devoted flower breeders is greatly needed and the creators of such Irises, for example, as William Mohr and Primrose and Amerind and Sequoyah deserve all and more from their production than they are ever likely to get out of them in this rough world, and we wish to cut no ground from under. Under a better order there would be a national law governing copyright, piracy and royalty on plant originations no less than on those of the printing press and it is not to our credit as a people that no working method for this has been devised.

Older established varieties are not subject to the same scruple, nor are the foreign originations, and here we try to set our price at the lowest figure at which we will be likely to supply the ensuing demand, and at the same time justify continued propagation.

TERMS

Cash with order or references.

Fulfillment of all orders subject to stock on hand

Prices are for strong, single rhizomes. The Iris borer has not yet come into our garden and every care is taken to keep stock as free as possible of rot and other troubles.

Where stock permits, twelve roots of a variety will be supplied for the price of ten.

We offer no guarantee except to do our best, but should stock sent prove untrue to name, every effort will be made to replace same satisfactorily.

Orders to value of $5 or over sent prepaid to any part of U. S., but where customer includes allowance for postage with order, extra plants will be sent to cover same.

Orders for plants, when accompanied by cash, except in the case of scarce novelties or special collections, are privileged to an additional selection of plants as follows:

Orders of $10 to $25 entitled to 5% additional Orders of $25 to $50 entitled to 10% additional Orders of $50 or over entitled to 15% additional

SOME RECOMMENDED FAVORITES

A beginner in growing Irises is often dismayed by the vast number of varieties from which he must make choice, but if the primary purpose for which he wants the plants is kept in mind he has accomplished an important first step in the simplification of his problem. An Iris which is grand on the show stand is not always the most satisfying to mass for a desired color effect in the garden. An exquisitely penciled flower which on the parlor table elicits the delighted ohs and ahs of every visitor may be merely inconspicuous and dull in the open border. The following list of a few of our varieties classified according as we have found particular enjoyment of them for (1) garden purposes, (2) the show table, and (3) room decoration may be helpful to some of those uncertain what further to choose for their collections.

CULTURAL NOTE

The culture of Irises depends mainly upon the particular group or type to which the plants belong. That of the majority of the Pogoniris or bearded group is very simple. Abstention from the use of retentive manure, a fair amount of lime in the soil, and good drainage are the principle points to attend to. The rhizomes should be set in the earth at time of planting with the roots carefully spread and the soil firmed about them, but the top of the rhizome not quite covered. In Southern California the most successful Iris growers are those who irrigate their plantations occasionally through the summer, perhaps every few weeks like a citrus orchard, following each watering with a light cultivation.

Ridging the beds or planting on a slope is often resorted to with notable success.

Apogon Irises require somewhat more moisture and humus in the soil as a rule, and for some groups, notably Oncocyclus and Regelia, quite special treatment is demanded—lighter soil, extra care in drainage, abundance of lime, and no water in summer.

Most of the Evansias prefer considerable shade and are among the few Irises which do their best under such conditions.

For immediate garden effect we strongly recommend planting in groups of 3 or 5 rhizomes of a kind. Such a number may often be supplied at an appreciable reduction from the regular per unit price.

OUR OWN INTRODUCTIONS

JACINTO (1924). S. Light Lobelia Violet, F. Ageratum Violet; flower of fair size and attractive symmetry; 4 ft. stem, well branched; a tall pale blend of neutral tone with a pinkish cast; soft colorings, often seen on the beautiful mountain whose name it shares; present reports indicate this to be hardy in the north. $2.00.

hardy in the north. $2.00.

*ORIZABA (1925). S. Pleroma Violet, F. Hyacinth Violet, deepening to Mulberry Purple; conspicuous yellow beard; a huge and handsome dark purple Iris of Mesopotamica habit; 4 ft.; very early; coloring remarkably clear and deep; hardiness quite untested. $7.50.

CACIQUE (1925). H. M., A. I. S. Handsome, upstanding fulva hybrid, in Prune-Purple and Blackish-Purple, on the order of the well-known Dorothea K. Williamson, but with us taller and a more robust grower; warmer but less brilliant coloring; brilliant gold arrow on falls. We at last have enough stock to again bring this splendid Iris appreciably lower in price. $2.50.

- *CANYON MISTS (1926). A very light mauve self, quite similar in color effect to Mile. Schwartz, but has a longer season and does not fade out seriously in bright sun. With us it is a more satisfactory grower and more floriferous than Mother-of-Pearl. A seedling of Caterina and very effective in mass where pale coloring is desired. Especially recommended for gardens where Mile. Schwartz proves unsatisfactory. 3 to 3½ ft. $3.50.
- *MAUNA LOA (1926). H. M., A. I. S. "Seed-ling 181." A tall upstanding bicolor of a strong reddish cast, the rich Dahlia Purple falls giving the dominant color note. Very large flowers. For so big and tall an Iris it seems to stand up amazingly well in rough weather. This has been one of the most admired Irises in our entire garden, and won favorable comment when exhibited at the great Chelsea show in England last year. $10.00.
- *OSPREY (1927). H. M., A. I. S. This is the "Seedling 300" which found so many admirers at the 1927 and 1928 Pasadena and Redlands flower shows, and which was twice illustrated in the Los Angeles Times. It is an immense spreading pale lavender flower with a touch of yellow at the throat, somewhat between Souvenir de Loetitia Michaud and Mother-of-Pearl in effect, but a far lovelier flower than either; shape and texture unusually fine, the one fault we have noted being a slight fading of the delicate coloring under hot sun. It is a magnificent exhibition Iris; height 3 ft. A splendid grower, but stock is still very limited. $25.00.

*SAGAMORE (1928). A fine tall fulva hybrid on the general order of Cacique, but redder and with a larger and more brilliant gold signal on the falls. The effect of this Iris in sunshine is exceedingly brilliant; height 3 ft. and over. The stock is from the original undivided clump and the majority of those available for delivery the present season are already spoken for. $25.00 each.

SPECIAL SET

A set of one of each of all the foregoing introductions with the exception of Osprey and Sagamore will be sent prepaid for $22.50.

WILD TYPES OF POGONIRIS

We are especially interested in the wild forms of Iris and have a considerable collection of which the following of the bearded Irises are now available in more or less surplus. They are particularly interesting to those concerned in breeding work or botanically inclined, but most are likewise fine garden plants.

Albicans. Lovely early flowering white Iris. indispensable in California where it is often in full flower in February and usually lasts till Easter. 25c; 5 for $1.00; $15.00 per 100.

Amas. A huge broad-petaled germanica from Asia Minor. 35c.

Biliotti. A rather low growing dark blue-purple Iris from Asia Minor. $1.00.

Cengialtii, Small, but very floriferous lavender Iris from northern Italy: exquisite when massed. 35c.

Como. A beautiful pallida collected in northern

Italy by Farrer. $1.50. CRETAN. A collected form from Mr. Dykes; related to Kochii and Crimson King, but somewhat bluer. An exceedingly brilliant piece of color. $1.50. Florentina. Useful, early mid-season white with a gray tone. 25c.

Istria. A very cool looking white with a distinct hint of green. It was collected by the late Mr. W. R. Dykes near Fiume. $5.00.

Kharput. A good collected form of germanica from Asia Minor. A question has arisen as to whether our stock under this name is true. It is therefore temporarily withdrawn.

Kochii. Similar to but bluer than Crimson

King. 25c.

Madonna. Supposed to be the blue-purple form of albicans, but does not behave much like it in the garden. $1.00.

MESOPOTAMICA. An enormous blue-purple Iris of Asiatic origin, which is an impressive garden subject in California and as a breeder has yielded some of the finest hybrids in cultivation, 75c each; 3 for $2.00.

Mesopotamica b. A larger flowered form with sinuous stems. $1.50.

Nepalensis. A deep blackish-purple form of Kochii. 35c.

Pallida. Tall light lavender. 25c.

Pallida Dalmatica. Similar to preceding, but larger flowers and deeper in color. 35c.

Ricardi. A variant early form of Mesopotamica. $5.00.

Syracuse. A handsome large-flowered form of albicans collected by Sir Arthur Hort in Sicily. $7.50.

Trojana. Unusually fine strain of imported stock, $1.50.

Trosuperba. A splendid tall form of trojana; widely branched stems. $1.00.

Variegata. A strong growing wild form of the true species from Sir Michael Foster's garden, originally no doubt from southeastern Europe. $3.50.

POGONIRIS-GARDEN VARIETIES

Duly allowing for personal preferences and special conditions, we have found all the varieties offered in the present list which we have had long enough for fair testing to be worth growing.

Atrofusca. We have a small surplus of very good rhizomes of this weird blackish brown Iris from Palestine, a species rarely obtainable in this country. $5.00.

*Susiana. Grayish white veined black-maroon; the somber but beautiful "Mourning Iris." We are not sure that our small present surplus will care for more than the current advance orders. $1.50 each if available.

REGELIA

(Early summer or fall delivery)

- *Hoogiana. Clear satiny lavender blue. Working up a stock acclimated to our heavy soil has proven quite difficult and at present only a few surplus roots are available. $3.00.
- Korola (Dykes). A quaintly colored and interesting hybrid between korolkowi and stolonifera. We have not found it at all difficult to grow. $5.00.
- *Leichtlinii. A variant form of stolonifera. $3.50.
- stolonifera. A lovely bronze and blue wild species from Turkestan; acclimated stock of a particularly lovely blue-bearded form and one of the choicest things in this catalog. An ideal rock garden subject, this and not the true korolkowi is what Reginald Farrer must have meant when he wrote of a certain Iris that it "is a splendid grower, rising to a couple of feet at the most, and bearing one or two elongated gracious flowers, whose colour is an indescribable mixture of fawn and brown, with the clearest, gentlest, electric blue. I would go any lengths to grow this, but I never have." $2.50 to $5.00 depending on size.
- Turkoman (Dykes). Another korolkowi-stolonifera hybrid which to our notion is one of the loveliest hybrid Irises ever raised. Only a few for sale. $5.00.
- *Vaga. Another interesting variant of the stolonifera group. $3.50.

white or lightly tinted, borne in airy panicles over a long season; scarcely known to American horticulture as yet and therefore of untested hardiness in most parts of the country but in Southern California at least in no respect a difficult subject. Only a few plants available. $10.00.

1928 DISCARDS

For the past two years we have ventured to give a list of the Irises which we have tested and which, seeming no longer worth while to grow with space at the premium it is in our crowded garden, have been definitely abandoned during the season in question. So many in this vicinity have seemed to find our personal experience useful that a further discard record is now appended. It had been hoped that this year's culling could be made considerably more drastic than has been the case, but lack of time to make the detailed comparisons needed has prevented decision except in the case of the following rather short list.

- Aksarben (Sass). A weak grower with us, and in any case we find it more bizarre than attractive.
- Amador (Mohr). Sold out and we do not consider it sufficiently outstanding for replacement.
- Atlas (Mil.). In no way outstanding.
- Belladonna (Koeh.). There are far too many plicatas in our lists and this one seems hardly distinctive enough to keep.
- Dalila (Denis). This Iris has seemed to have many admirers in other districts, but with us its growth has been unsatisfactory, nor have we found it really worth while in other respects. We do not mourn its departure.
- Dusk (Mor.). Very slow grower, and many others of the Ambassadeur type now seem finer.
- Gules (Bliss). A good Iris at its best, but hardly distinctive enough.
- Helge (G. & K.). The muddy tone in this Iris hurts it badly in comparison with some of the newer light yellow intermediates, notably Soledad, and it therefore seems no longer needed.
- Helio (Perry). Entirely ordinary.
- Iris King (G. & K.). At its best a very good Iris, but in our soil a wretched plant to make grow. In any case we much prefer such variegatas as Argynnis.
- Knysna (Bliss). Another rather weak growing variegata notable for its brightness and lateness, but we have found Solana altogether superior.
- Lord Ross. An old and wholly commonplace variety.
- Lutescens Major (Dean). Stems frequently fall over; almost a good and useful Iris, but lacks the perky charm of the Statellae form.
- Montezuma (Farr). One of the earliest of the yellow-ground plicata types, now quite supplanted, we think, by certain of the Sass seedlings.

Mrs. Walter Brewster (Vilm.). A wholly ordinary Iris duplicated or surpassed by many.

Naomi (Sturt.). Soft coloring but hardly distinctive with us among other modern varieties. We suspect this is a much better Iris in other districts.

Somercoates (Per.). Oriflamme-type and a fairly good Iris if there were not so many others similar.

Splendour (Sturt.). Dwarfish in growth and quite outclassed by others in the garden.

Suzanne Autissier (Den.). Seems here little more than a duller and poorer Alcazar.

Thecla (Longf.). Altogether ordinary.

Wyomissing (Farr). A lovely soft color in mass but hard to grow satisfactorily under our conditions.
